Reproduction orders from originals from the holdings of the University Archives of the Vienna University of Technology are processed by the archives or by an external service provider. If a negative has to be generated to produce a reproduction then the negative remains in the archives' possession while the buyer pays the cost.

Production of copies or reproductions may not be possible for reasons of copyright or preservation of the original.

Photographing or making of reproductions with the customer's own equipment is not allowed. Provision of copies and reproductions does not include the right to use or publish them but is exclusively intended for the buyer's personal use. Transmittal to third parties is not allowed. Prior to publication or use in an exhibition the corresponding permission to use (form) must be obtained from the University Archives of the Vienna University of Technology.

USAGE FEES

Usage fees for originals from the holdings of the University Archives of the Vienna University of Technology are governed by the type of publication. Usage permissions apply exclusively to the purpose agreed upon and any transmittal to third parties is not allowed. The reproduction rights remain the property of the University Archives of the Vienna University of Technology.

With each usage of originals for publications or in exhibitions the identification of the source must be given as "Technische Universität Wien, University Archives."

In addition to the fee to be paid, the archives must be sent, without specific request, a free copy of the publication in which originals from the holdings of the University Archives of Technische Universität Wien are reproduced.

Where the identity of the source is not given or is not unambiguous, a surcharge of 50% will be applied and in case of usage without a permission or which has not been agreed upon a surcharge of 100% will be applied.
