„Stories and Remembrances from a Long Life“

This afternoon I hope to spend an interactive story telling period with you, not a lecture but a dialogue and question/answer session about remembrances and stories from my life.

The first part will be devoted to vignettes of some of my experiences with well known mathematicians whom I had the honor, and for the most part the pleasure, to have become acquainted with over the past sixty years.

In the second part, I shall speak a little about my personal history, from my childhood years to almost the present, especially in the hope that those of you who know me will get to know and understand me even better.
