Information on collection and processing of personal data

Dear interview partner,

In connection with my bachelor’s or graduate diploma / master’s thesis / doctoral dissertation studies at the Technische Universität Wien / Technical University of Vienna (hereinafter „TU Wien“ for short) I am right now working on my bachelor’s or graduate diploma or master’s thesis or my doctoral dissertation.

The writing of that academic work is associated with the gathering and use of personal data.

The processing of personal data must be done in accordance with the data protection regulations in force, and I therefore take the liberty of informing you about data processing in accordance with article 13 of the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR):

Controller of the data processing
1. Interviewer, author of the bachelor’s or graduate diploma / master’s thesis / doctoral dissertation, and controller of the data within the meaning of article 4, numeral 7 of GDPR is

Purpose of data processing
[detailed description of the purpose or purposes]
for example: evaluation of interviews on the subject … and processing of the data collected in connection with my bachelor’s or graduate diploma / master’s thesis / doctoral dissertation with the title …

Description of data processing
[detailed description of data processing] for example: The interview is recorded with a tape recorder and subsequently put into writing. For further evaluation of the interview texts, any information which could lead to identification of the individual is pseudonymised or removed from the text. In the bachelor’s or graduate diploma or master’s thesis or doctoral dissertation, interviews are only quoted in excerpts, in order to ensure in relation to third parties that the global context of events emerging cannot lead to identification of the individual. Personal contact data are separated from interview data and stored separately.

Legal basis

Constituting the legal basis for processing such personal data is article 6, paragraph 1 (c) of GDPR in conjunction with § 80 for the bachelor’s thesis / § 81 for the graduate diploma or master’s thesis / § 83 for doctoral dissertations (all § cited are in the Universities Act 2002 (UG)).

Article 6, paragraph 1 (c) of GDPR establishes norms for processing of personal data to meet a legal obligation to which the data controller is subject.

§ 80ff of UG constitute the legal obligation. Distinctions are made depending on the type of the academic writing:
• § 80 of UG concerns the bachelor’s thesis (article 6, paragraph 1 (c) of GDPR in conjunction with § 80 of UG);
• § 81 of UG concerns the graduate diploma and master’s dissertations (article 6, paragraph 1 (c) of GDPR in conjunction with § 81 of UG);
• § 83 of UG concerns doctoral dissertations (article 6, paragraph 1 (c) of GDPR in conjunction with § 83 of UG)

The data protection law justification for processing the data is not the consent of the subject.

Transmission recipients and third-country recipients

Basically, only authorised persons sworn to secrecy have access to the personal data processed in the course of processing and servicing of the bachelor’s or graduate diploma / master’s thesis / doctoral dissertation and, in that case, only to the required extent.
The data are not forwarded to third parties.

Or:

- Your personal data will or may be lawfully transmitted to the following recipients or categories of recipients within the EU/EEA:

Storage period

As proof of good academic practice as well as for subsequent verifiability of the method chosen and the results achieved, registration and documentation of the academic procedure is stored on sustainable and safe data media. This occurs in conformity with data protection and is inaccessible to third parties. Data storage is governed by the statutory regulations and is implemented according to § 2f, subsection 3 of the Research Organisation Act (FOG) for a maximum period of 30 years.

Subject rights

according to GDPR, as a data subject you are entitled to the following rights:

- Right to information about the relevant personal data (article 15 of GDPR)
- Right to rectification (article 16 GDPR) or erasure (article 17 of GDPR) or to restriction of processing (article 18 of GDPR) under the conditions listed in the regulations cited
- Right to complain, which must be filed with the Austrian Data Protection Authority, Barichgasse 40-42, 1030 Vienna, telephone: +43 1 52 152-0, email: dsb@dsb.gv.at as the regulatory authority with jurisdiction.

Article 11 of GDPR additionally provides that separate traceability of data back to individuals need not be guaranteed merely to be able to protect the rights of subjects.
