

FemChem:

Stefanie Taibl is a Senior Scientist at the Institute of Chemical Technologies and Analytics and does research in Analytical Chemistry, Solid-state Chemistry and Materials Chemistry. She became involved in FemChem in 2016 and is now spokesperson of the communication & information team.

Bettina Mihalyi studied technical chemistry at TU Wien and is a process engineer and senior scientist. She is a founding member of the Fem Chem network and chairwoman since November 2018.

FemTUMe:

Viktoria Illyes graduated from Chemical Engineering in 2018. She has been working since 2019 on her PhD and as a project assistant in the field of renewable energy systems and thermal energy storage. She is also currently working on her General Management MBA. She is a co-founder of femTUMe

Vasiliki-Maria Archodoulaki is 55 years young, has a habilitation in plastics engineering and has been working at the Vienna University of Technology for 25 years with a research focus on plastics recycling. Her hobbies are reading, running, drinking coffee, traveling and her family. Her motto is: Be the reason why others believe in the good in people.

Claiming*Spaces:

Lauren Janko (Student) and Inge Manka (Senior Scientist) present the activities of the open group of students, faculty, researchers, and graduate:students. Claiming*Spaces is an intersectional feminist collective founded in 2019 for feminist perspectives at the Faculty of Architecture and Planning, TU Vienna.

Dinah Gaffal is a cultural and social anthropologist and socioeconomist with a focus on gender equality and has been part of the Department of Gender Competence, TU Vienna since May 2022.