

Everything is difficult the first time you try it, and becomes easy when you have seen it enough times

Elisa

Davoli

She is a Full Professor at the Institute of Analysis and Scientific Computing at TU Wien.

The rigour of mathematics has sparked her enthusiasm for exploring and solving models in several areas of applied science.

Her research areas involve the investigation of problems in materials science, biology and image reconstruction through variation methods.

Scan me!

fem*MA
MATHEMATIKERINNEN