

If you don't try, you will never know.

Explore and expand
your boundaries.

Julia

Eisenberg

She is a Full Professor at the Institute of Statistics and Mathematical Methods in Economics at TU Wien.

Her driving force is translating real-world problems into mathematical models to help people navigate uncertainty with certainty.

Her areas of expertise encompass stochastic optimization and actuarial mathematics, applied across various domains such as the development of private and public pension products.

Scan me!

fem*MA
MATHEMATIKERINNEN