

COURSE 856023

Interested to learn how to summarise a text and to structure and write a review systematically?

Course by Prof. em. Dr. Kay Axhausen, ETH Zurich
Readings in Transport, Urban and Environmental Policy
(course 856023, SS2025)

What activities are involved ?

Reading Papers

To summarise papers for your own purposes and compare against a language model summary

Learn to Review

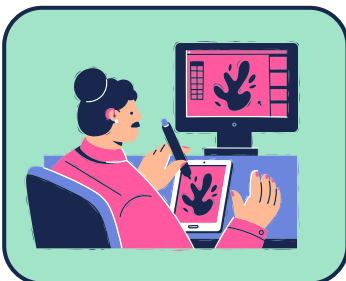

Learn to review for an editor or a supervisor or alike

Learn to Structure and write a review of a particular issue (of your own choice)

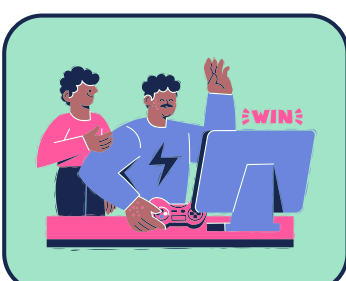

6 Meetings for 3 ECTS: What does it include?

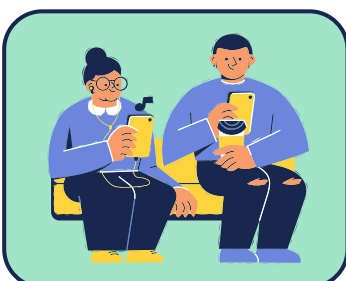

MEETING 1-3

Reading and discussing 3 sets of papers, and summarise select papers for your own reference

MEETING 4

Choose a topic of interest to you and write a review of based on select papers for a third party.

MEETING 5

Choose one of the papers of your literature review and review it for an editor in up to 500 words

Who is the teacher?

Dr. K.W. Axhausen has been Professor of Transport Planning at the Eidgenössische Technische Hochschule (ETH) Zürich (Swiss Federal Institute of Technology) from 1999 until 2024. . He received an honorary doctorate from the Danish Technical University in 2020 and the IATBR lifetime achievement award in 2024. He was the chair of the International Association of Travel Behaviour Research (IATBR) and is editor-in-chief of Transportation and earlier of DISp, both ISI indexed journals.

For registration and further details, visit Course 856023 in BOKU Online, or contact at yusak.susilo@boku.ac.at